HOW FRAIL I FEEL !!

Lord remind me how brief my time on earth will be. Remind me that my days are numbered, and that my life is fleeing away! Psalm 39:4

When we were young we thought we were invincible, that we would live forever. But really the older and wiser I get I see how frail and fragile our body is and our time on this earth is a very short time. When I think about our congregation we learn one of our brothers has had double bypass surgery on Monday, and one of our sisters had a pace maker for her heart on Tuesday. How many of our faithful have had knees or hips replaced?

Ye know not what shall be on the morrow. For what is life? It is even a vapor that appears for a little while then it is gone. James 4:14

This verse tells us not to put off things we know we should be doing. We do not know about tomorrow! If you need to repent of your sins and have the Eldership pray for you, or to confess that Jesus Christ is the Son of God and be baptized please come forward today at the end of the service and make that known. I would love to help you in either case.

Brothers and Sisters, don't get caught up in the rat race to "keep up with the Joneses". Don't try and work 7 days a week and 24 hours a day to get up that corporate ladder. The ladder a Christian wants to climb is the ladder to Heaven! Just think if we dedicated that much time on our spiritual lives how much better Summit would be and this world?

Where do your priorities lie? How will you use the short, precious time you are given?

For what is a man advantaged if he gain the whole world and loose his soul? Luke 9:25

Bill, for the Elders

I WAS PUSHED HARD

Yesterday I spent several hours with precious souls who had been “pushed hard”. Some of our visits started from the depths of despair but all ended in hope-filled joy.

Out of every challenging event, you will find the hand of God – if you will choose to look. Just like my sister who, yesterday, took this picture of “new life sprouting out of tough times”.

After seeing God’s hand return them from exile, His people sang this Temple Praise song:

Psalm 118:13–14 (ESV) — 13 I was pushed hard, so that I was falling, but the LORD helped me. 14 The LORD is my strength and my song; he has become my salvation.

These words remind of the song Josh Gorman sings (written by Brendan Graham in 2004):

*When I am down and, oh my soul, so weary;
When troubles come and my heart burdened be;
Then, I am still and wait here in the silence,
until you come and sit awhile with me.
You raise me up, so I can stand on mountains;
You raise me up, to walk on stormy seas;
I am strong, when I am on your shoulders;
You raise me up... To more than I can be.*

Friend, if you would recall & meditate on your most spiritual moment you too can be raised up to sit on mountains.

Celeste van der Merwe.

“ELEVATOR TO HEAVEN”

by Brad Herald

At CYC last month, one of the sources of entertainment between the devotionals was the S.W.A.T group putting on skits. While I do not remember all of the specific scenes, one skit that was impactful was called “elevator to heaven”.

In this skit the elevator “doorman” was repeatedly calling out “elevator to heaven, elevator to heaven” to get people’s attention as they walked by and to encourage them to get on. One character was kind of interested in getting on, but something came up and he decided he would get on the elevator another time.

Another character was really interested in getting on, but he did not want anyone else to know because he did not want people to think he was “one of those Christian fanatics”. This character actually got on the elevator, but promptly got off at another stop when he recognized some people from work and he did not want them to see him.

While this summary does not tell the whole story of the skit, I think we can all recognize the theme is that there is only one way to heaven and that we cannot be ashamed of our faith.

Fear and faithlessness leads to unbelief.

Hebrews 3:19 “So we see that they were not able to enter, because of their unbelief.”
