ALL THINGS IN COMMON

Daryl Denham

Acts 4:32 - Now the multitude of those who believed were of one heart and one soul; neither did anyone say that any of the things he possessed was his own, but they had all things in common.

Psychologist David Caruso wrote in The Atlantic, "American culture demands that the answer to the question "How are you?" is not just "good," but sometimes "great." "Okay" means I'm deeply troubled and there's things I want to talk about but you're not actually even asking me that question. It's more of a greeting. It's polite." As a society, we are often too busy or too uninterested to interact more deeply. As Christians, our relationships must be much more than this. True Christianity demands a deeper level of intimacy. Jesus said, "A new commandment I give to you, that you love one another; as I have loved you, that you also love one another." (John 13:34)

Author Jia Jiang proposes "the question that can likely predict whether you will be alive and happy at age 80. "Is there someone in your life whom you would feel comfortable phoning at 4 in the morning to tell your troubles to?" This is the type of relationships we should be striving for in the church. Spending time together and developing meaningful relationships like the 1st century church that is recorded in the Acts of the Apostles. The bond we share in Christ should unite us, as it did them.

William Rawlings of Ohio University says we have "3 expectations of a close friend: somebody to talk to, someone to depend on, and someone to enjoy." We should find all of these in our Christian brothers and sisters. We should be striving to have a deep love for one another, the agape love of I Corinthians 13, that "bears all things, believes all things, hopes all things, endures all things", a love that "never fails." It's strong and it's deep. It doesn't give up on people, or write them off. It allows us to "be patient" with one another, and to bear "one another in love." It's the bond of a family that connects us together and connects us to Christ.

From Neville's Desk...

SANITY'S 6 ESSENTIAL STEPS

Start by keeping your nose in the Good Book. The Bible is written by the Creator to be an instruction manual. So, Bible before breakfast and bed is the first essential step.

Second, find a mentor that you believe is most closely imitating Christ. Then imitate only those aspects of your mentor that most resemble the footsteps of Jesus.

Third, take control of your self-talk. It is essential that we learn to change our "self-talk" to conform to the will of God. Here is an example of how this can be done: "I know you are trying to help me by pointing out what a fool I have just been. But you can help me more by silencing my tongue the next time I am in the same situation." Please read 2 Cor.10:5

FRUSTRATED OR GRATEFUL

Nancy Carnes

As I've grown older, I've felt frustrated at times when I can't do things the way I used to do them. It takes me longer to clean my house; I take longer breaks. I just don't do anything fast anymore. I can't play with my great-grandchildren like I did with my grandchildren when they were young. I can't take long walks with my husband. All the things I can't do well frustrate me, but recently Douwene showed me a picture of a sunset and I realized...

- I can still see a sunset and sunrise*
- I can still smell my flowers* and Prov. 17:28.

Fourth, pacify the perfectionist in you. Becoming the "gentle and quiet" soul Christ wants you to be, can take a lifetime, (1 Peter 3:4). Also, be forgiving to the imperfections of others.

Fifth, as Christ's servant, please Him and not man (Gal.1:10). If people don't like you for who you are it's their eternal loss. As a Christian, you are a likable person – but only to those who love God's Son.

And lastly, try to be "good people". Barnabas is described as a "good man" (Acts 11:24) because he encouraged people to remain faithful.

Dear Father, help us to not be angry and sullen like Cain (Gen.4:6f). Help us rather be your contented children, always blameless and pure, so that we might shine like stars amongst this crooked generation.

- I can still hear the birds sing and the children's laughter*
- I can still taste my food*
- I can still use my hands to wash dishes*
- I can still walk into a store and buy what I need*
- I can still enjoy being with family and friends*
- I can still come together with the church and worship God*

I should be grateful to God for what I can still do. 1 Thessalonians 5:18 says, "Give thanks to God in all circumstances for this is the will of God in Christ Jesus for you".

UPCOMING EVENTS...

VACATION BIBLE SCHOOL

Summit will host Vacation Bible School July 31-August 3, 7:00-8:30 PM. This year we will be using the Apologetics Press curriculum titled Fearless. We will be looking at the lives of Luke, Peter, Paul, Priscilla & Aquila, and Stephen and focus on what made them have a fearless faith.

If you would like to help with VBS in any way, see the sign-up board in the foyer for volunteer opportunities. We will try to do most of the early prep and planning virtually to cut down on meetings since summer schedules are busy for everyone. Please consider helping to plant seeds of faith in children from our congregation and community. Let's work together to make this year's VBS a success!

CHURCH PICNIC

Saturday, July 23 at AJ Jolly Park.
